

THE BOARD OF ASSESSORS.

Two members of the State Board of Assessors, namely the Governor and Attorney General, met here yesterday to give a hearing to persons who had been notified to appear and show cause why the assessed valuation of their property should not be increased. Several who had been notified of individual raises were present, and vehemently protested against the injustice of the proposed raise. Dr. W. H. Patterson, District Attorney, and H. H. Beck, Commissioner of Hymors and several others made some pointed remarks and asked several pertinent questions. The Attorney General attempted to shield the Board with the Act creating it, and contrary to the rules of law, seemed to think it the duty of certain property holders to show cause why the valuation of their property should not be increased by the flat of the Board, instead of having the Board explain why it singled them from among many others and proposed to raise the valuation of their property and not of their neighbors.

The Board having no valid reason for adhering to its proposition to increase the assessment of a few individuals, decided to abandon the project, and it was so announced by the Governor.

The taxation of property concerns the whole community, and there should be no Star Chamber business connected with it. The Board is composed of five persons—State officers—who were not elected because of their superior knowledge of the value of property throughout the State. These State officers could not determine—unless they are endowed with supernatural knowledge, and that they do not claim—and the people do not suspect that they are—the value of property which they never saw. They must therefore derive their information from some source. Now the question is, from whom did they derive the information that sixty or seventy tax-payers of Washoe county, as many more in Humboldt, in Elko and in other counties, were not assessed as high as they should be? Did they employ secret appraisers to go through the State and endeavor to ascertain the value which every citizen placed upon his property? Presumably not, as the Act, despotic as it is, provided no secret fund from which to pay spies. Did the members of the Board then secretly ascertain from individuals, who are not manly enough to publicly assume the responsibility of their statements, what the property of certain persons ought to be assessed at? The inference is that they did. If that inference is well-founded then the members of the Board, who are under oath to perform their duties faithfully, should have given the names of their informants and save themselves from the suspicion of adopting secret methods in the performance of a public duty.

Every act of so important a body as the State Board of Assessors should be so performed that it could stand publicity and bear the light of thorough investigation.

INVESTIGATING CROOKEDNESS.

The State Senate of Pennsylvania is convened in special session by the Governor for the purpose of investigating alleged crookedness of State officials. In his message the Governor reviewed at great length the testimony taken by the various committees which have been investigating the affairs of Treasurer Bardsley, who is now in the penitentiary, and severely arraigned State Treasurer Boyer and Auditor General McCamant, for their connection with Bardsley's misconduct. The Governor said the responsibility of determining whether a reasonable cause exists for the removal of those officers rests with the Senate, and the public expected it would be met and discharged without regard to partisan advantage or detriment, and to the honor of the commonwealth.

As the Senate and the accused officials are of the same political faith and rings rule the Legislature fully as much as in Nevada, it is probable that the Senate will whitewash the Auditor General and State Treasurer.

WHY THE DISCRIMINATION?

As the movement to raise individual assessments in this county has been abandoned, the Board will doubtless recall the notifications issued to individual tax-payers in other parts of the State. The Board, to relieve itself from the suspicion of being partial, should now explain why it made a horizontal raise of 12 1/2 per cent. in some counties, 15 per cent. in others, 20 per cent. in three counties and 25 per cent. in two. It must have had some reason for discriminating, and as it should have nothing to conceal, in justice to itself it ought to explain.

Governor Colcord says he is opposed to the Board of Assessors Act, though he is in favor of a State Board of Equalization. He believes that every county should have authority to assess all property within its limits subject to equalization by a State Board.

Clark the Murderer.

Special to the Journal.

CARSON, Nev., October 14.—Telegrams have been sent out of Carson to-day by private individuals that Pat Clarke, the murderer of Gallavotti, the Nevada City mining man, has been caught by Sheriff Bottsford and is now in the county jail. All reports are false and Clarke is not here.

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

THE CITY OF ROME.

Reported Loss of Two Hundred and Fifty Persons.

Special to the Journal.

St. Johns, N. S., October 14.—It is reported here that the Anchor Line steamer City of Rome, Captain Young, which sailed from New York October 10th for Liverpool, has been lost off St. Sheeth, eighty miles in a direct line southwest of St. Johns. The nearest point of importance is Trepassey, which is at the head of the bay running in between Capes Race and Pine, and about twenty miles from where the City of Rome is said to be lost. It is understood that the vessel had about 250 passengers on board.

New York, October 14.—When dispatches from St. Johns gave meagre statements that the City of Rome had foundered it was immediately believed the ocean racer which left here Saturday last had been caught in the unusually strong hurricane and either run ashore or gone down with passengers and crew. The excitement was intense throughout this city and Brooklyn. Those who entertained fears as to the safety of the vessel were greatly relieved later when a dispatch from St. Johns stated definitely that it was not the well-known City of Rome but a tramp steamer of the same name. At the office of Henderson Bros., agents for the Anchor Line steamships, nothing definite could be obtained for some time. Finally they received a dispatch saying the vessel ashore was a cattle steamer from Montreal. It was a tramp steamer having no register at Lloyd's, but was not the City of Rome. It had 575 cattle on board. The Captain of the vessel was named Mely and it is reported that he was drowned together with the first officer.

In answer to inquiry Henderson Bros. received the following:

CAPE RACE, N. F., October 14.—Your City of Rome passed Tuesday afternoon. All well.

Furious Storms in England.

Special to the Journal.

London, October 14.—The furious gales which have been raging all over England, Ireland and South Scotland for over 24 hours continue to-day. Channel passenger boats, which usually venture out in the most severe weather, were unable to cross last night. From all sections come reports of damage done and lives endangered. It is impossible yet to give an approximate idea of damage done on land and sea or the lives lost. At Hellenburg, a watering place on the Firth of Clyde, the streets were flooded and the people driven from their homes.

Great danger was experienced by the pedestrians in the streets of Dover, owing to the falling tiles and chimneys. A number of more or less serious accidents have been reported. In one street a stack of brick chimneys was hurled down with such force that it smashed in the roof and buried in the ruins the inmates of the house. A number of women and children were badly injured at Sunderland by the hurricane unroofing a factory. A tall chimney which fell upon the house seriously injured four persons. This afternoon the gale in the channel was increasing.

Reports from Glasgow say that two coasting vessels have foundered in a branch of the Firth of Clyde and six of their crews have been drowned. The ship Helen Brower capsized at Glasgow and over a dozen yachts, a number of coasting vessels and many lighters are ashore in Clyde. Four of the stranded lighters have already sunk, and several others are almost certain to become total wrecks.

Of recent years, by the expenditure of immense sums of money, Dover has been made "the harbor of refuge," long and powerfully built jetties having been thrown out seaward, and a huge granite pier, one-third of a mile long having been built.

The pounding the pier has received in the storm has been so severe that huge granite blocks, of several tons weight, were being washed out of place in spite of the iron work and cement which held them, and little more than the foundations remain. At Wellingborough, the theatre has been blown down. A large audience had barely left the building when a powerful blast swept down and reduced it to a shapeless pile. Had the building fallen a moment sooner a number of people would have been buried in the ruins.

Locomotive Boiler Bursts.

Special to the Journal.

St. PAUL, Minn., October 14.—By the explosion of a locomotive boiler in the Kansas City railway shops near this city this afternoon, eleven men were injured and two probably fatally. The engine had just been taken from the repair shops and a gang of machinists were getting it ready for use when the explosion occurred throwing them in every direction.

The Snell Murderer.

Special to the Journal.

CHICAGO, October 14.—The story told in Baltimore by the widow of Albert K. Ordway regarding Snell's murder has received little credence here. Ordway's father says the statement has no weight with him, and Snell's son-in-law, Stone, says he places no reliance in it.

New York Democrats.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, October 14.—The Democracy of Kings county turned out in force this evening to aid in firing the big Democratic gun in the present campaign in this county. When Grover Cleveland entered the Clermont Rink accompanied by Hon. W. H. Furey the audience went wild. When it was reduced to order Mr. Cleveland was introduced and was greeted with "Three cheers for our next President." Mr. Cleveland, after greetings, made a speech of some length, calling the attention of his hearers to the importance of the campaign and generally scoring the Republican party.

Sunday Law Enforcement.

Special to the Journal.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., October 14.—The Sabbatharian Society has decided to inaugurate a war on Sunday newspapers. Captain Wishart, the President of the law and order society, will have charge of the movement, and on next Saturday night will arrest all the editors, reporters, compositors and pressmen found working after midnight. If the papers are published on Sunday morning the carriers and newsboys will also be arrested. It is the intention also to arrest the newspaper men if they begin work Sunday night before 12 o'clock.

Railroad Telegraphers.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 14.—Chief Thurston of the order of Railroad Telegraphers left here for the east to-night. Before leaving he had a final interview with Superintendent Fillmore of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company regarding the recognition of the order by the company. Mr. Fillmore told him that the company would not recognize the order and would discharge any of its employees belonging to it.

CENSUS REPORT OF LIVE STOCK.

No Figures Given for Nevada.

A census bulletin on range live stock has been issued at Washington. It says: "Outside of the stock taken by the regular enumerators as 'on farms,' this investigation shows upon the ranges in California, in the census year of 1890, 241,300 cattle, 22,542 horses, 1,408 mules, 897,896 sheep and 9,110 swine, with 1,782 men employed as herders, etc. The figures for the range stock in Eastern Oregon are: Cattle 363,531, horses 94,469, sheep 1,170,116. Washington cannot much longer claim to be a range-stock State. The wheat-growers are rapidly appropriating the ranges, and only ten counties, located in the eastern part of the State, have stock ranges, and these in limited numbers. She loss in 1889 by winter storms is estimated at fully 50 per cent. of all stock. The number of range cattle is given at 61,105, range horses at 24,209, and sheep at 208,218. In 1880 Washington as a Territory was a flourishing grazing district. It is now a flourishing wheat field. The ranges of Arizona are not, as a rule, overcrowded, and wool-growers have not as yet occupied extensive ranges, except in Apache and Yavapai counties. The range stock of Arizona is reported as follows: Cattle 659,758, horses 18,557, mules and burros 1,203, sheep 41,708, swine 3,013. On account of the very protracted dry spells of late years, the industry in Nevada has been much depressed. No figures are given for Nevada."

The census cost the people over $7,000,000 and further appropriations are asked for, yet it is valueless so far as it relates to Nevada. Reno, the second largest town in the State, is omitted from the report on population, and no figures are given to indicate the live stock in the State.

Free Water.

Parties in Reno having good wells or a place for one are throwing away money in paying water rates, when by a small investment plenty of pure water is at their command free of cost. One good well will supply water for several families, who by joining in the expense of erecting a windmill, tank, etc., can not only effect a saving in expenses, but be independent of a monopolizing water service. A visit to the Water Company's reservoir and ditch at times will convince the most skeptical that well water is the doctor's enemy, while surface water is the direct agent in bringing business to his office.

Constant pumping insures pure water from all good wells, hence the quality of well water cannot be judged properly from only occasional pumpings. Many unused wells would furnish plenty of pure, clear water if properly pumped.

Can you afford a pumping plant of your own? We will answer for you, Yes.

We are prepared to take contracts this Winter to erect any sized wind-mill plant required, with proper tank and service connections, furnishing them on a monthly installment plan, warranting all work and taking proper care of all mills so erected.

Plus and specifications free upon application. anti freezing pumps and protected pipes insure equally as good Winter service as in Summer. For further particulars call on

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs. ELIA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

IS ALUM POISONOUS?

(Hall's Journal of Health.)
"This question has caused a good deal of discussion. Alum is used by many bakers to whiten their bread, enabling them to use an inferior flour. It is most extensively employed as a cheap substitute for cream of tartar in the manufacture of baking powders. It has not been considered immediately dangerous; although if continued it induces dyspepsia and obstinate constipation. But the fact that many cases of poisoning have occurred from the use of alum, puts the question in a more serious aspect, and prudent people will exercise caution in the selection of baking powders."
"Under what conditions then, does this substance—formerly used only for mechanical and medicinal purposes—become poisonous? They are certainly obscure, and at present we can only surmise what they may be. We suspect that the cause exists in the individual poisoned; some peculiarity of the constitution producing a morbid change in the secretions of the stomach, with which the alum combines and forms an active poison; or the secretions may be healthy but in unusual proportions, and that these greater or less proportions in combination with the alum constitute a poison."
"For example, two parts of mercury and two parts of chlorine form calomel, which is not poisonous, but change the proportions to one part mercury and two parts of chlorine, and we get corrosive sublimate, which is a deadly poison."
"Then, again, we know nothing of the constitutional peculiarities. Why is it that one person can eat all kinds of green fruits and vegetables with impunity, while the same course might cost another individual his life? One person can handle poison ivy and sumac without being in the least affected; another is poisoned if he approaches to within ten feet of them. Out of a family residing in a malarial district, some of the members will suffer half the year with fever and ague while the others will enjoy excellent health during the entire year. Foods that are wholesome to some persons are actually poisonous to others. This is especially true in some kinds of fish. There is no safety in taking alum into the stomach, as it is shown to be always injurious and often dangerous." *
The Scientific American published in a recent number a list of alum and ammonia baking powders, which is of great value at this time. Following is the list compiled from official reports. Powders marked with a star seem to have a general sale, as they are mentioned in at least two of the official reports:

ADMISSION DAY.

The Finance Committee in Quest of Funds.
Elaborate preparations are being made for Admission Day. All that is needed to make it a success is funds. The boys do not ask for an extravagant donation but would be pleased to be dealt with liberally by the business men of Reno, upon whom they will call to-day. The committees are doing active work. The parade promises to be both large and original. The Literary Committee is also selecting members for the exercises of the day. The literary exercises will be conducted by young men and the day will be theirs and for once the boys will be "in it."

THE WRECK NEAR COLFAX.

A Reno Girl's Experience on the Derailed Train.
Miss Annie McLaughlin, daughter of Commissioner W. P. McLaughlin of this place, was a passenger on the train which was derailed near Colfax, last Monday morning. Upon her arrival in San Francisco she and her brother George, who has been in the city, wrote to their parents, and the JOURNAL is permitted to publish the following extracts from their letters:
WHAT THE YOUNG MAN SAYS.
"DEAR PAPA AND MAMMA—Annie has just arrived. She had a miraculous escape from death. You will see a full account of the accident in the papers. The car went down an embankment sixty feet. It slid all the way and that is what saved the passengers from instant death. If the car had turned over all the inmates would have been killed. Mrs. Emma Linn and her babies were in the berth opposite Annie. They were thrown clear over into Annie's berth. Annie's ear was torn and her face scratched. A doctor stitched her ear at Colfax and the railroad company sent a doctor up to the house after her arrival here to attend her. He will take the threads out in a few days. She lost her earrings but saved the rest of her things. It was a fortunate escape. Mrs. Linn says if it had not been for Annie she could never have got along. When the baby was thrown into Annie's berth she grabbed it and hung on. She held the baby in one hand and climbed up and broke the window with the other hand so as to give them air. One lady was taken out almost smothered, as the car was full of smoke and gas. Children were screaming for their mothers and all was confusion."
WHAT MISS ANNIE SAYS.
DEAR FATHER AND MOTHER—I thought I would finish George's letter. You have no idea of what it was like. We were about two miles west of Colfax. It was 3 o'clock and 20 minutes in the morning. I was awfully blue and nervous and didn't go to bed till after we left Truckee. I had just awoke when I felt the train leave the track. I said to myself we are going. I wonder how far? Thank God, Mamma is not on the train for I am all right. In an instant we were down and Mrs. Emma Linn and her two children were thrown on my berth which was on the under side. We were penned in and Emma said: "My God, save the babies; are they killed?" She kept calling to me to save them and there I was buried deep under cushions and seats. I don't know how I did it, but I got up some way and got hold of the baby. We were almost suffocated. The gas from the lamps was terrible; they were smoking but not burning, for fortunately the jar extinguished them. I reached the window—it was right overhead—with one hand, and with the other held the baby. I could not open the window and tried to find something with which to break it. Finally I gave Emma the baby and pulled up the seat and broke the window with it. The broken glass fell on us but did not cut us. I thought the whole train was off and expected no help. My face was bleeding dreadfully. I could have got out through the broken window but Emma begged me not to leave them so I remained. Just then I saw a lantern and men came and broke in the doors to extricate us. One lady had to be taken through the roof of the car. I lost my earrings and Emma's baby lost a shoe. Weren't we lucky? Everything possible was done by the railroad men to make us comfortable. About 9 o'clock a doctor came from Colfax and attended the injured. We were transferred to another train and went back to Colfax for breakfast. The doctor dressed my wounds and stitched my ear, which was torn near the root, about a quarter of an inch. I stood the ordeal without a murmur though it hurt dreadfully. I have to stay in doors a few days, and although I am sore I was hurt only on the face and ear. The accident was caused by men who wanted to rob the train.
There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a tea-spoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address, F. J. THE STATE ASSESSORS.

Two Members of the Board Hold a Meeting at the Court House.
Governor Colcord and Attorney General Torreyson of the State Board of Assessors and Equalization held a meeting at the Court House yesterday. The Governor stated that he and General Torreyson were here for the purpose of ascertaining the value of assessable property in Washoe county. They did not desire, and it was not their intention to do any one an injustice. He invited the gentlemen present who had been notified of a proposed increase in their assessments to make a statement.
Wm. Thompson and Samuel Brown expressed their opinion as to the value of Mr. Brown's property.
Wm. Thompson also stated that he believed the Reduction Works were assessed at a reasonable valuation.
Seymour Bryant appeared for Mrs. Jane Lake.
District Attorney Julian made a statement in behalf of property holders generally. The County Board of Equalization had taken great pains to equalize the assessment roll, and he believed it made a just assessment of all property in the county.
Dr. W. H. Patterson appeared for G. W. Mapes, and asked what particular piece of property belonging to Mr. Mapes was not properly assessed.
Commissioner Hymers, at request of Governor Colcord, stated what he knew about the assessment. He said the assessment was a just one and did not think the Board could better it.
Mr. Manning was asked in his opinion the stocks of merchandise in Reno were assessed proportionately as high as other property, to which he replied that they had been in former years, but this year he had not examined the assessment roll.
Mr. Pinniger concurred in the views expressed by Mr. Hymers, and he believed the property had been fairly and justly equalized by the Board.
Mr. Beck addressed the Board, which he said was a railroad Board, and in assessing railroad property was not just to the other tax-payers. He challenged the Board to raise the Riverside Mill assessment. The people respected the members of the Board personally, but in their official capacity regarded them as pirates.
Attorney General Torreyson said the Legislature was responsible for the law which compelled the Board to act as it did.
Mr. Beck replied that he had said many hard things about the Legislature, but did not mean it of doing any thing as mean as that. He contended that the Board should show cause why a tax-payer should be raised and not make it devolve upon the citizen, who had already been assessed, to prove by witnesses that its valuation should not be increased. He believed that every taxpayer in Washoe county was assessed higher proportionately than the railroads. Yet the horizontal raise does not apply to railroads.
The Governor said Churchill county was assessed at $237,000, though one property holder in that county was worth half that amount.
General Torreyson said there was one county in the State in which not an acre of land was assessed at more than $25 per acre. He admitted, however, that lands were assessed in Washoe county at from $1 25 to $25 and $30 per acre.
The Governor thanked the gentlemen who attended the meeting and suggested that the investigation be abandoned and the notifications of an increase in individual assessments be recalled.
General Torreyson concurred and the meeting was declared adjourned sine die.

COOL AND COURAGEOUS.
HOW A KENTUCKY GIRL OUTWIT-
TED AND KILLED A BEAR
A School Ma'am Who Taught a Lesson on How to Circumvent Bruin—She Blocked Him with Wearing Apparel Until She Could Get to Shelter and a Gun.
Miss Callie McGee, of this place, had an experience that she will not forget and in which she showed rare courage and presence of mind in the face of the greatest danger.
Miss Callie has been teaching school in the "Bear Creek" district, which lies on the waters of Bear creek. In going to and returning from school each week
she is obliged to pass over Bear Wallow mountain—so called by the early settlers
on account of the great number of bears that formerly made it a resting place in their migrations from the Chimney mountains to the Cumberland. For several years past, however, no bears have been seen, and the inhabitants have long ceased to apprehend any danger from these animals. Miss Callie started for her home for the purpose of passing the Sabbath with her mother. She was accompanied by her little niece, who is only three years old.

THE RACE BEGUN.
The road between Bear Creek valley and America is lonely even for a mountain road, and from the base of the mountain on the one side to the foot on the other—a distance of three miles—there are no signs of human habitation.
While slowly climbing the mountain on the farther side from this place Miss Callie was suddenly startled by a rustling of the bushes at one side of the road, and upon looking around discovered a large black bear stepping slowly and cautiously into the road about forty yards in her rear.
Catching up the child in her arms, she fled rapidly up the steep mountain side.
Casting a terrified glance backward over her shoulder she was appalled to see the bear break into a lumbering gallop and start in pursuit. The child, frightened at the unusual actions of her aunt, was screaming at the top of its voice, and the bear apparently redoubled his efforts to catch them. Panting and gasping for breath she at length reached the top of the mountain almost exhausted, and upon looking back discovered the bear still in pursuit and rapidly decreasing
the distance between them, being now scarcely twenty yards behind her.
Occasionally the bear gave an angry snort, as if enraged at being balked of his intended prey. His heavy, labored breathing was now distinctly audible to her ear, and she realized that her strength was failing, and that it was impossible for her to continue her present pace much longer. While continuing her flight the child's hat, with its gay ribbons and flowers, became accidentally disarranged and fell to the ground.
After a hundred yards or more, Miss Mc-Gee ventured to look back once more,
and her relief may be imagined when she saw the bear biting and tearing at the hat lying on the road.

A COOL CALCULATION.
Miss McGee said that at sight of this
she instantly recovered presence of mind,
and coolly began to calculate on her chances of escape and her best method of procedure. She knew that the nearest house in which she could seek safety was still nearly two and a half miles distant, and the chances of meeting any one able to assist her on that lonely mountain road were very few. She knew that she could not keep up her present rate of speed much longer, so she moderated her gait, although she still made good time.
She had gained perhaps 200 yards on the bear when, upon looking around,
she discovered him again starting in pursuit, having succeeded in demolishing the hat. She now rapidly proceeded to divest the child of its sack and threw it down in the road. Upon reaching the spot in the road where the garment was lying the bear again stopped and proceeded to destroy it before continuing his pursuit. Miss McGee made good use of the time lost by the bear, and when he again started in pursuit she was a good distance ahead. As he again nearly she threw the child's dress
down into the road, and again the attention of the bear was attracted and a few precious moments gained.
She continued this method, coolly waiting each time until the bear had nearly overtaken her, then dropping some article of wearing apparel into the road, until the child was entirely divested of clothing; then she began upon herself.
She was already within less than a mile of a dwelling and began to feel confident of her ability to delay the animal until she reached it. Her gloves were first sacrificed and gained a few moments' respite from pursuit. Her hat went next, then basque, and last of all her dress skirt. The latter succeeded in holding the attention of the bear until she reached the house of John Miller and was once again in safety, although almost destitute of clothing.
The bear, attracted by the squealing
of some pigs in a pen near the road,
made no effort to effect an entrance into the house, but left the road and went to the pen for the purpose of procuring a pork dinner. Mr. Miller was not at home, and the bear's chances for securing a young porker seemed to be good,
when Miss McGee took down a Winchester that was above the door, and despite the entreaties of Mrs. Miller the plucky teacher proceeded to the pen. As the bear saw her approaching he reared upon his hind legs and stood ready for fight. Miss Callie quickly brought her gun into position and fired, the ball passing through the animal's heart, and he fell dead. He proved to be a "whopper," and tipped the beam at 28 1/2 pounds.—America (Ky.) Cor. Cincinnati
